

Hello children,

I hope you are all well. It is great to see you baking, being 'arty', reading and enjoying the sunshine. I hope the small changes we have had this week have meant you are enjoying having a little bit more freedom outdoors. I am very proud of all the learning you are doing at home. Keep it up.

I am still reading and this week have finished the two books I mentioned last week. I have been doing a lot of weeding and my compost heap is taller than me now! I also got my collection of vinyl records out and have been playing them as I am planning activities for you.

I have been enjoying watching the BBC Wildlife primates programme on the TV narrated by Chris Packham.

It is fascinating to learn about the closest relations to humans in the animal kingdom and the important part they play in the ecosystem. Did you read the interview with him in the First News newspaper in the learning folders? Issue 724

It is so important to keep trying the tasks in the learning folders, on Spag.com and My Maths. Practise skills using the Top Marks Website also as well as Rock Stars.

I am learning a new word each day and have started looking at the United States of America.

Quiz question- which letter of the alphabet is not in any state name?

Keep safe.

Love from Miss Askew
