

Be Like a Bear.

It's difficult when you can't go out,
when you can't go see your friends.
When it seems like there's no fun about,
there's one thing you can pretend:
Be like a bear.

It's difficult when you can't go play,
when you have to stay inside.
When there's no school or holiday,
there is one thing - have you tried?
Be like a bear.

What could this mean..? What are bears like that makes someone write these words Dali class?

Hopefully you have been enjoying the lovely weather children.

Have you had a chance to read the book JK Rowling has put online for children. It is called The Ickabog and you can read it in instalments.

Hello Dali class

I hope you enjoyed the half term activities we put in the folders for you.
How many did you try?

Thank you for your suggestions about what the bird could be. Thank you in particular to Joe – our nature expert - for suggesting a blackbird. I think you could be right! When I researched further I discovered the female is brown and would not have a bright beak like the male. Well you learn something every day because I had discounted a blackbird when I thought about all the different species I get in my garden. I peer into the nest every morning when it is not there to see if there are any developments with the eggs. I'll keep you posted.

I have learned such a lot about the number of eggs different birds are expected to lay at different times.
Did you know a collective noun for a group of eggs is a clutch?

Try to find out what you call a group of these:
Penguins
Starlings
Eagles and any more.....

I had some left over natural yoghurt in the fridge so made a cake which I've not tried before. It tasted great even if I do say so myself!

Well we have to wait a little while longer before we see Y6. I'll be in school getting ready for this. Hopefully it won't be too long before we can welcome Y5 too.

Stay safe and well Dali class
Watch out for sunburn!
Miss Askew