

Hello Seurat class,

You've made it through another week in lockdown! It's a very weird time right now. I hope you're all continuing to stay safe and sensible. I am still missing you all! I popped into school last week to pick up a few bits and our classroom felt sad without you all in it. The blu-tac has melted a lot of work off the wall too! I've still been going into school to look after the children of key workers which is fun.

At home I have been working on my sun tan when the weather has been lovely, my garden has never been tidier since we have been off. ME and my boyfriend even knocked down and re-built a fence! I felt like Bob the Builder. At the end of my garden there is a big farmer's field and at the start of the week he dropped off cows and their calves so they have been funny to watch. They can run surprisingly fast!! I've been going out for daily walks, trying to find new places around where I live. Every Saturday night, me and my friends have a virtual quiz which is love (I've won twice!). I've downloaded Disney+ and I love watching all the old Disney films from when I was your age. Every Thursday we go out and clap for the NHS but I always think of you and clap for you and how well you've done this year and how well you are doing right now.

Please stay in touch! I have responded to emails that have been sent into the school email account and I am keeping up with all of the tweets and photos. I am so impressed with the TTRS competition, what a fantastic result Andrew house! I check My Maths and SPaG.com every week to see how is logging in, please have a go! Don't worry if you make mistakes. Each week we upload work to keep you going and challenge you, when we're back to school bring your work in for me to look at.

As always, if I can help with anything, no matter how small, please get in touch through the school email. I'd love to hear from you as well!

Have a good week and stay safe,
Miss Addison
