

Hello Seurat class!

I can't believe it is half term! It feels like another 'normal' lockdown week. I have had a busy week this week. I was in school with all the other teachers and staff on Wednesday to talk about partially reopening. I'm sad that I can't see you all and get our class back. It was my dad's birthday on Wednesday and my mam's birthday on Thursday so I spent a bit of time seeing them from their back garden. Me, my sister and family tried to give them both a birthday to remember. Over the weekend, I went on a walk to Sycamore Gap which was lovely. We took a picnic and made the most of being out of the house. I've attached a photo below for you all to see.

As this week is half term I want you to relax! Have a break from all of the hard work you're doing and get outside (if the weather lets you!). We've left some activities you can do outdoors in the pupil folder so have a look and see if you can complete them.

I have been checking online work like My Maths and SPaG, well done to everyone who logs in and completes the work! Well done to everyone for having a go! Thank you to those who have posted photos and updates to our twitter account @Seuratclass or have sent me an email.

Enjoy your half term!
Miss Addison
